International Program CORPORATE FINANCE

Fundamental knowledge in financial management is vital for successfully running any corporation. CMMU's Corporate Finance (CF) program responds to opportunities and challenges of the exciting and complex world of finance in a new era of globalization. The changing global context of the 2020s is demanding higher levels of profound expertise for corporate financial managers in Thailand and the Asia-Pacific Region. Financing a corporation is the pre-requisite of all its business activities. Managing new strategies for increasing the rate of return of investments (assets), and for being aware of the cost of capital of all financing decisions, is taking on major importance. This equally applies in Thailand, where expertise in financial management in the corporate and public sectors needs to be strengthened. Furthermore, modern financial tools such as derivatives and cryptocurrency are increasingly causing decisions to be made swiftly without the luxury of errors.

WHO SHOULD TAKE THIS SPECIALIZATION

The aim of this program is to train students for a role of financial manager, financial specialist, CFO, or a top executive who needs to make, implement, and monitor financial decisions. The program would be ideal for any applicants who would like to pursue a career in financial management, but it is also designed for all corporate managers who need more knowledge of the financial processes in their firm. Backgrounds in accounting are not required, as CMMU provides basic financial accounting courses as well as advanced management accounting classes. Quantitative analysis with the use of appropriate software would be incorporated in your learning experiences. Note that there is no need for a strong mathematical background to study in the program.
